Why Music?

We believe that music can positively impact the lives of people experiencing dementia; Research suggests that listening to music or singing songs can provide emotional and behavioural benefits to people experiencing dementia. Music is a unique and powerful way to reaffirm personal identity and feelings of social connection.

Music can also benefit caregivers by providing a way for someone to connect with their loved one, especially those who have difficulty communicating.

Our Values

Compassion: We care for you

People-Centred: We want to know you and what is important to you

Integrity: We respect you

Creativity: We think outside the box, being creative and having fun is part of our nature
